Introduction

This book was compiled and produced by David J. Howe, at the suggestion of his father, Lee A. Howe III, who kept asking “is this all written down somewhere?”

The purpose of this book is to document the Carey William Howe and Mary Jane Nichols family and their descendants in written form. The audience for this book would seem to be limited to family members descended from Carey and Mary, or those interested in local history or Howe genealogy in general.

This book covers four generations, starting with the parents of Carey and Mary Howe, and ending with the grandchildren of Carey and Mary Howe. This coverage is not exhaustive and there are many gaps and omissions that (given enough time and energy) might have been filled, but given the practical constraints of publishing this book by the end of 2008, the gaps and omissions will have to remain, with my apologies. Perhaps a subsequent edition of this book could be published which would give a more complete coverage.

Each chapter in this book documents a generation. Chapter 1 documents the parents of Carey Howe and Mary Nichols, which I am calling generation 1. Chapter 2 documents the Carey and Mary Howe family (generation 2). Chapter 3 documents the children of Carey and Mary Howe (generation 3). Chapter 4 documents the grandchildren of Carey and Mary Howe (generation 4).

Within each chapter there is a section for each family. Page numbers are broken up into three parts: generation number, family number, and sequence number. The generation number is either 1, 2, 3, or 4, depending on the generation of the person. Family numbers are determined by birth order. Sequence numbers simply number the pages within a family. This method of page numbering was chosen to allow new pages to be inserted without having to renumber all subsequent pages, as this book may be published in an “expandable” format.

Generations 5 and later were not included in this book for practical reasons – it would have been just too much work! However, in the appendix is a listing of all generations (that would be generation 2 through generation 8) as of this writing. Generations preceding generation 1 are numbered as 0, -1, -2, -3, etc. I have made an effort to keep the generation numbering throughout this book consistent.

Squire Howe & Sarah Gilkey

1890 Obituary of Sarah Gilkey Howe:

Died at 5:10, on the morning of April 27, 1890, at her house in South Newstead, N.Y., Mrs. Sarah Howe, aged 70 years, 11 months and 25 days.

Her death was very unexpected and sudden, being sick but a little over one hour with congestion of the lungs. She had been growing feeble over the last three years, but was quite well the most of the time. Deceased was born in Tompkins County in the town of Gorton, this state, on May 2, 1810. She, with her husband and two small children, moved to the farm where she died, arriving there after a journey of five days on the road with a wagon, a distance of about 120 miles, April 19th, 1831. After a few years of privation, hardship and toil, living in a log house, they built the house in which she died.

She was the mother of eight children, three of whom survive her: D.B. Howe and Mrs. & Mr. Cole of Newstead, and Dr. C.W. Howe of Buffalo.

In the year 1851 she united with the Baptist Church at Hunt's Corners, of which she was a consistent member until her death. The Friday following her death would have been her 80th birthday, and the family had planned to make her a birthday _____ a surprise, but she went to enjoy a far happier and more glorious birthday than she could possibly enjoy on earth.

The funeral was largely attended on Wednesday, at the home of her son, D.B. Howe, at 2pm, Rev. H.P. Hunt officiating, preaching from text Rev. 11-13 -- "They rest from their labors, and their works do follow them." The hymns sung were, "We shall sleep but not forever," "There's a land that's fairer than day," and "Nearer my God to Thee." The latter was a special favorite of the deceased. She was carried to her final resting place by kind neighbors and laid beside her husband and children in the Leater burying ground. A kind mother and a good friend is gone. May we hope to meet her on the resurrection morn.

Shneckenburger, Mary Meyer, Barbara Kern, Kate and George Steingruber, Leonard Reilan, John, Jacob and Minna Kern, Leonard Meyers and Mary Heintz.

The pastors here have been Revs. Peter Ritter, David Swing, Charles Rantz, Frederick Koehler and Frantz Frederick, the present pastor.

The church edifice is located at Folsomdale, and cost $1,200, and is now valued at $1,200, together with the parsonage, purchased since building the church. The present membership numbers fifty-seven.

The Sabbath-school connected with the society was organized in 1867, with twenty-eight scholars, and John Kern as superintendent. The school at present has an average attendance of forty scholars, with Gotlieb Kreuter as superintendent.

COWLESVILLE.

The land upon which the village of Cowlesville is situated was purchased in 1818 by Quartus Clapp, who built a saw-mill the same year, on the site now occupied by the grist-mill, at the foot of Mill street. His house stood on the corner of Mill and Main streets. It was a frame house, and is now occupied by Mrs. Crouch.

Mr. Clapp built a grist-mill in 1826, adjoining his saw-mill, both of which were carried away by the high water in 1861. The hamlet was known until 1832 as "Clapp's Mills." In 1862 the present grist-mill was built by Richard Yeomans.

The first school-house in this place was built in 1827, about seven or eight rods west of the Universalist church. Dr. Howe's house stands on the same site.

Gaius B. Rich opened a store here in 1827, in a part of the house where Ira Clapp now lives.

In 1828 Elisha Daggett and Ellis Loomis had a carding-mill where Franklin's saw-mill now stands, in the lower end of the village. In 1835 they put in clothiers' machinery, and subsequently Robinson & Daggett carried on the business. The mills were burned in 1851. William Franklin afterward built the present saw-mill on the same site.

In 1837 John Whitney built a tannery where the Franklin House now stands.

The first blacksmith in the village was Russell Hoag. His shop is now occupied by Mrs. Wilson. Hoag was appointed postmaster in 1832. He kept the office in his house, where Chauncey Baker now lives. The name of "Cowlesville" was given to the village at this time in honor of Hiram Cowles, a clerk for G. B. Rich.

The pioneer physician of the village was Erastus Cross. He lived in the building now used by Mr. Sargent as a cooper shop. It stood near Mrs. Sargent's house, where her barn now stands. The pioneer village tailor was Samuel Starbird.

The first tavern built for that purpose was the present one occupied by Mr. Austin, at the corner of Main and Hill streets, and was erected in 1840.

The Cowlesville Furnace was erected in 1844 by Elisha Daggett, and is now owned and operated by his sons.

The present school-house was built in 1848.

In the summer of 1876 Mr. Adelbert Gillett commenced the publication of a wide-awake newsy little journal, called the Little Centennial, and continued it about a year, when the name was changed to Cowlesville News. The News was issued about six months, when journalism in Cowlesville proved unremunerative, and the enterprise was abandoned. Since then Mr. Orville Millar continues the job printing business.

The present business establishments, etc., of the village are as follows: General stores—Sargent & Hawes, Case & Cushman; hotels—Franklin House, Austin House; furnace, L. Daggett & Brother; hardware and tin store, Milo Westcott; blacksmiths—Chauncey Baker, Alexander McBain, Fred. Matz; wagon makers—George W. Klock, R. B. Millar; painters, Clark & Patterson; cheese factory, C. H. Cummings; tailor, Gail Nichols; physicians—W. N. Martin, C. W. Howe; cooper shop, J. M. Sargeant; shoe shop, Zach. Millar; saw-mill, Mrs. W. Franklin; grist-mill, Richard Yeomans; printing office, O. Millar. The present postmaster is John M. Sargent.

COWLESVILLE CEMETERY ASSOCIATION.

For nearly sixty years the old "graveyard" on the hill has served well the purposes for which it was anciently fenced off, but the time came when more room was wanted, and on the 13th of April, 1864, the above named association was formed. The following trustees were elected: George E. Mattison, Lysander Cushman and S. P. Barnum for one year; Richard Yeomans, John M. Sargent and Henry C. Sargeant for two years; William Franklin, Robert B. Millar and Isaac Albe for three years.

At a meeting of the trustees April 23d, John M. Sargent was elected president of the association, W. L. Munger secretary and H. C. Sargent treasurer.

The old ground was soon improved, and May 7th, 1870, the association purchased land on the north and east sides of it, paying $75. May 5th, 1873, the trustees bought for $160 one and five-eighths acres from J. M. Sargent, adjoining their former purchases. The whole was immediately properly fenced and surveyed into burial lots, and several hundred dollars spent in improvements. Since then the grounds have been kept in accordance with the laws of the State. At present the trustees are Samuel Starbird, L. H. Brown, W. N. Martin, M. N. Williams, Joseph Hinckley, Zachariah Millar, J. M. Sargent, R. B. Millar and H. C. Fillmore. The officers are: President, J. M. Sargent; treasurer, Samuel Starbird; secretary, W. N. Martin, M. D.

THE FRANKLIN MINERAL SPRING.

Certain oily substances having been noticed for a long time on the surface of the water in the creek and adjacent springs, some of the villagers embraced the idea that oil might be found by sinking a well. In the spring of 1865 an association was formed and money contributed for that purpose. The boring was commenced at the lower end of the village, within about three rods of the north margin of the creek, on the land of Mr. William Franklin, and nearly opposite his house on the bank above. The earth was removed to the slate rock, about six feet, and the drill started into the rock. After drilling three hundred and twenty feet into the rock the drill dropped eighteen inches, and immediately a column of water, accompanied with large quantities of gas, rushed up

Carey William Howe & Mary Jane Nichols

Notes by Lee Howe Jr.:

Grandpa was a country doctor -- I don't know how or where he got his education. He worked long hours -- horse & buggy style. Also served as a medic in the Union army. Between his overwork and surgery, and his stress of doing operations in the army, he became addicted to drugs. He had a draw full of uncashed bills -- so a low income. His wife put bread on the table by being a housekeeper for other people.

HOWE, Dr. Carey W. - enlisted in Buffalo in Sept. 1862 in the NY 160 Infantry, Co. G; assistant surgeon, (born 1836). He was a physician and surgeon in Cowlesville on a map from 1866. He served from Sept. 5, 1862 - Jan. 6, 1863. Bennington resident in 1870. He was buried in Cowlesville cemetery, town of Bennington, NY in 1909.

Was a surgeon in Civil War (on the side of the North). Buried, Cowlesville NY. Children were born in Cowlesville NY. House on Main St, next to old white church and used (at least up until 1/17/1953) as a Baptist parsonage.

Obituary from Buffalo Evening News, Monday, May 3, 1909:

Dr. Carey William Howe, one of the oldest medical practitioners in Western New York, passed away yesterday morning at his home, 159 Woodlawn Ave. Dr. Howe's illness was of only a week's duration, and it is believed that his death was hastened by the serious illness of his wife, whose condition has been considered grave for some time. The funeral will be held from the family home tomorrow at 12:30 pm. The remains will be taken to Cowlesville, NY for interment.

Dr. Howe was born in the town of Newstead, NY. He received his education there and in Clarence, where he inaugurated his medical studies with Dr. O. K. Parker and Dr. L. P. Parker, two prominent physicians in that place. He then came to Buffalo, and entered the medical department of the University of Buffalo, from which he graduated in 1860, just before the beginning of the great civil conflict. When the 116th New York Volunteer Regiment was formed in this city, Dr. Howe went with it as an assistant surgeon, but after he had seen several months of service he was stricken with illness, and was forced to return to Buffalo.

During the period after the war Dr. Howe made his home for a number of years at Cowlesville, NY, later removed to Clarence, and about 20 years ago came to Buffalo, again to make the city his home. Until about five years ago he had been engaged in active practice here. He was a capable physician, and stood in high regard of his fellows in the medical profession. Dr. Howe was a member of Chapin Post, G.A.R.

The surviving members of the family include his wife, Mary Nichols Howe, four sons, William H., Carey W. Jr., Lee A. and Burt D. and two daughters, Mrs. George B. Bell and Mrs. C. A. Hershey.

Kathryn and George had no children.

Aunt Kate and the Answer to Prayer (written by Lee A. Howe, Jr., circa 1979)

You boys probably never met Aunt Kate and Uncle George. She was Dad's sister and Uncle George was her husband. They were the members of Dad's family that we were best acquainted with— they were living in Syracuse when we moved to Warners and so could come out for a Sunday visit quite often. I don't know which adjective to use, but they had no children, so she was unbearable, or impregnable, or inconceivable. I suppose he could have been the one who was non-productive, but at least— they had no children. They were nice people who took a great deal of interest in Lee and his family. Some times you got the feeling that they felt they knew more about bringing up children than Mom and Dad did, but that's a forgivable sin— everyone who has had no children to raise always feels more competent than the frustrated parent who looks at his kids and says, 'When will they ever grow up?'

Aunt Kate and Uncle George were religious— real religious. They went to Church every Sunday, participated in Church affairs and business. Uncle George even attended Moody Bible Institute for a time. Not that he ever gave up business to go into the ministry, but enough Bible training to enable him to support any position he took with sound quotations from the Bible. Neither was obnoxious— they were genuinely and sincerely pious in the best sense of the word. They were quite proud, I think, when your father declared for the ministry. They were probably equally dismayed when he chose that hot-bed of liberalism, Union, for his seminary but their heart was in the right place and they remembered us in their will.

Since this story is about what happened on one of their visits to the farm, I'd better refresh your memories about that farm.

Really, you shouldn't call it a 'farm'. It was a lesser spread, too big to be called a spacious lawn, and too small to be called a ranch. "Farmette" might do. At any rate it was a little over 70 acres, one mile down the road from Warners to Syracuse— or, in proper perspective, one mile from Warners on the road from Syracuse to Warners. On the edge of the village was a sign -

WARNERS

POPULATION 459

Please drive carefully

They never changed that sign. When Betty was born, eg., they should have written, Population 460, but they just shrugged their shoulders and said, "Sooner or later, someone will die and even it up." Sure enough, someone did.

To get back to the farm. It was bounded on the south by the road from Syracuse to Warners, on the East by a country dirt road, on the north by another farm and a brickyard, and on the west by the same brickyard and parts of another farm. The farmette was trisected by two railroad lines— the NY Central and the West Shore, running parallel to the road from Syracuse to Warners, and separated, in each instance by some 100 yards. The house was located in the southeast corner about 75 yards from the dirt road and 15 from the south to west road. Before I rush ahead with this brief anecdote, let me say a word or two about the trains. There were four sets of tracks on the NY Central and two on the West Shore. Over these two lines passed all the freight from NY to Chicago and points west, as well as some of the finest and fastest passenger trains in the world— you ever hear of the Empire State Express or the NY Limited? If you've never had a ride on a sleeper, you haven't slept. The luxury of even an upper bunk!

Due to the proximity to the house, the fast trains and the heavily-laden freights (sometimes with 100 box cars) would make the house tremble and the bed shake. (People who can sleep through a San Francisco earthquake got their training in a house like ours!) And, due to the country road, every train had to announce its intention of crossing that crossing by three loud hoots from their hooter. Is it any wonder that I was able to sleep in my bedroom in Union even though it was directly opposite the place where the subway emerges and becomes an elevated around 120th Street?

Have patience, please, we've almost come to the end of our story. Aunt Kate and I had been out for a ride in the buggy, with good ole Lady making the wheels spin on the way back to the barn. As we came over the West Shore tracks and looked to the next crossing, we saw one of the long, long freight trains stalled on the NYC track. I slowed down the horse and prepared to spend the next 15-20 minutes waiting for the train to move on. As I drew close to the tracks, a miracle happened and the train came apart right at the crossing. We kept right on going— like Moses crossing the sea. As we went down the grade to the other side, Aunt Kate sighed and said, "What a shame! What a shame!" I asked her what she meant and she replied— "What a shame that no one offered a prayer— that was such a perfect answer!"

Aunt Kate may be remembered by others for some of her other sterling qualities. I shall always be thankful that she did not let her piosity stifle her sense of humor.

“Lee Howe, Sr. Quit school in 6th grade in order to earn money for his family. Most of his working years were spent in the YMCA as boys worker. 2 different executives fired him because of his lack of a degree. Each time popular demand re-instated him. He was instrumental in starting the summer camps for boys. The first were for newspaper boys. He frequently wrote articles for newspapers and at one time wrote lesson plans for David Cook. He was a popular speaker and substitute preacher. His wife, Cora, was a home maker and loved it. By choice we were a large family.”

From newspaper article:

Lee A. Howe, Activities Secretary of YMCA, to Retire Here on Saturday

Granted Pension After 35 Years of Association Service

After 35 years of service in YMCA work Lee A. Howe, activities secretary of the "Y" will retire Saturday.

The retirement of Mr. Howe was announced today by James B. Hillick, new general secretary of the YMCA. Mr. Howe came to Utica Oct. 1, 1921. He plans to return to his home at Warners, N. Y. near Syracuse.

When Mr. Howe first came to Utica he was assistant boys' work secretary after which he took charge of the boys' division. He directed the program of activities which included gymnasium work, athletics, swimming and club work. He established the annual games tournament on New Year's Day. Mr. Howe at that time directed the summer camp on Lake Ontario.

The secretary retires at the conclusion of nearly 15 years of service with the Utica YMCA. He has been granted a pension for the years of service he has put in "Y" work.

During his first years with the local "Y" Mr. Howe was in charge of the New Boys' Club. The present Boys' Club is an outgrowth of the club which Mr. Howe first directed. Mr. Howe was elected general chairman of the Older Boys' Conference at Geneva and he also taught in the Silver Bay Summer School at Lake George.

In 1925 Mr. Howe was made senior membership secretary. At that time Mr. Howe said the members numbered approximately 1,500. Mr. Howe was active in forming shovelboard and bowling leagues. Under his direction visitation nights were established with church men's clubs, service clubs and other units taking part.

Mr. Howe for a number of years edited the Men of Utica, a weekly paper containing association news.

Three years ago he was placed in charge of the activities program. In his new position he continued some of his former work and added a number of new young men's clubs including the unemployed young men and the Polish young men. The clubs which Mr. Howe. Had a definite part in organizing were the Tau Delta, the Phi Beta Sigma, the Fortnightly, the Bridge, the Utica City Checker, the Chess, Radio and Stamp Clubs.

The association has Mr. Howe to thank for the establishment of the Forum series. This is in its ninth year.

"Vocational counseling, employment service and friendly fellowship," Mr. Howe said, "have given me the thrill, of my life."

He began YMCA work in 1895. He has been at the work almost continuously since that time taking only a few years out when he conducted an employment service in Pittsburgh.

The Gifts Came “With Love, Mother” (written by Lee A. Howe, Jr., 1983)

Each year, when Mother's Day came along, my mother would say to me, “Now, son, don't get sentimental over it. A lot of gush from the pulpit doesn't mean as much as a letter from you, telling us how things are going with you and your wife and the kids.”

Each year, mindful of her advice, I have tried to be objective and “not too sentimental.” It is difficult, however, not to sing her praises, and give thanks for the love with which she surrounded her family. So here goes with several more gifts her children received, with love, from our mother.

Among her gifts was this one: a sense of responsibility for our own deeds. She saw through our excuses, and our rationalizations, and helped us to accept responsibility for what we did. Blaming others for something didn't get much of a hearing from her. When we were guilty of misconduct at school, she always supported the teacher who punished us.

A second gift, which I doubt that she recognized as a gift, was the understanding that “doing the right thing” may result in something other than going to church and Sunday school. There were six children in our home, and by the time she had helped us and our father get ready to go, she was pretty well exhausted. Off we went, while she stayed home and rested up. Who shall say that her activities were less “religious” than ours?¹

A third gift from her, and this one I am sure she did not think of at all, let alone consider it as a “gift.” She helped us to see that spiritual, emotional, psychological living is capable of change and growth. To illustrate: She was born and brought up in a small, hidden-away village in the Adirondacks. The town was so small it was reached by a dirt road and there wasn't much population on the way in or out. It had one church, and that was almost extinct. One of the early lessons she was taught was: “The Negroes and the Jews and the Roman Catholics are inferior, they are a threat to the well-being of our nation.” In short, she was quite prejudiced – even though she never saw a Jew or a Negro until after she went away to Teacher's Training School.

After she was married and “out in the real world,” she became acquainted with friends of her children, and they were black. Her sons and daughters brought Roman Catholic classmates into our home, and mother found them to be fine people. As her own children grew up and lived away from home, she foster-mothered a series of children, two of whom were half-Jewish, and she discovered that Jewish people were not necessarily wicked. She grew out of her prejudices and we, who never shared that prejudice, saw her grow “in the spirit.”

Needless to write, this is not complete, indeed it is a very partial listing of the gifts that came “With Love, Mother.”

As published in the Chronicle Express, Yates County's Watchful Newspaper, May 5, 1983.

¹ According to Betty, rest was not something Cora did much... Sunday mornings while everyone was gone were the only chance she had to mop the floors!

“But different kids have different memories of growing up in the same family, don't they? In Cora's household, work was supposedly not allowed on Sunday, or so I recall being told in my own childhood. Not a stitch of sewing, no card playing, so it probably was the one time Cora set aside her normal pursuits, and probably turned to her puzzles. I remember late in life she enjoyed doing picture puzzles and usually had one in progress on the card table.” – Sally White

Howes of Baldwinsville Note 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Howe of 22 Grove St., Baldwinsville, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Christmas Day at a family gathering at their home.

Widely known in YMCA work, Mr. Howe was a Y secretary for about 40 years, the last post being in Utica. He also had charge of a camp for newsboys of The Cleveland News and did personnel work with boys for Westinghouse Electric Co. in East Pittsburgh.

The family moved to Baldwinsville in 1947.

Mr. and Mrs. Howe, who was the former Miss Cora E. Little, were married at the home of Mrs. Howe's parents in Port Henry, Dec. 25, 1902, the Rev. H. Gooding officiating. Attendants were Miss Mabel Pattison and John C. Little, a brother of the bride. They in turn will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary next August.

Four of the Howe's six children were at the Christmas gathering, and the two absent sons, Herbert C. Howe of California and William G. Howe of Salamanca telephoned messages. Adding to the seasonal decorations were 50 red roses from the Hungry Club of the Utica YMCA.

Children and grandchildren present included Mrs. Charles Lobdell and her children, Nancy, Naomi, Billie Ann and Charles, Jr.; the Rev. and Mrs. Lee A. Howe, Jr., and sons, Lee A., 3d, David, Douglas and James of Webster; Mr. and Mrs. Donald N. Howe of Moundsville, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Laurence E. White and Sally and Paul of Breeseport.

The Howes have 17 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Retired detective's Hobby Is Saving Money for Him, Too

Collection of Mechanical Banks, Valued at $15,000, Have Nearly $2000 in Deposits

An exhibit of late 19th and early 20th Century "Americana" exists in the living room of Vernon D. Howe of 395 West Utica St. The retired detective has about 300 mechanical banks valued by him at $15,000.

Such banks, all of which have internal or attached machinery triggered by the insertion of a coin, were thrift encouragers in almost every American home 50 years ago and their behavior was a source of amusement and interest to grownups and children. Now they are collectors' items occasionally turning up at auctions and eagerly sought by enthusiastic antique collectors.

Most of Mr. Howe's collection is kept in a showcase running the length of one side of his living room and reaching almost to the ceiling.

Bank Plays "Yankee Doodle"

There is a piano bank dating back to the Gay '90s. When a penny is inserted, a small music box inside chimes out a chorus of "Yankee Doodle." An antique collector once asked Mr. Howe to name his price for it, but he was unwilling to let it go.

"You won't find any other banks similar to most of those I have," said Mr. Howe, and I wouldn't sell most of them for anything."

One bank, made some time in the 19th Century, has a clock on its face which can be set to run for any period between one and 60 days. At the expiration of the period, the clock will stop and a small door in the bank's side will pop open.

A model locomotive, which Mr. Howe values at $300, raises its stack when a penny is inserted. Near it is a bank on which a mustachioed figure grinds a tiny organ while a bear shuffles when a coin is inserted.

Oldest Was Patented in '69

The oldest bank in the collection, patented in 1869 and called "Excelsior" has a monkey which pops out of a trapdoor and takes the coin inside with it. Another has a replica of Teddy Roosevelt aiming a rifle at a crouching lion. A cap detonates the rifle, which "shoots" the lion with a penny, knocking it back on its haunches.

The most treasured item in Mr. Howe's collection is the "Shoot That Hat," patented in 1882 and valued by him at $2500. When a coin is placed in it a figure vigorously slams a hat on another figure seated in front of it.

The collection captures the attention of all visitors to the Howe residence. He estimates that approximately $2000 worth of coins are in the banks now, placed there by himself and others to make them run.

"It's a good way to encourage saving," he says, "but my gosh, it's almost too much of a good thing."

Marjorie Howe Obituary:

Syracuse Herald American (NY) - January 18, 1998

Marjorie Howe Lobdell, 94, of Peoria, Ariz., died Saturday in Arizona.

Mrs. Lobdell resided at York State Manor, the former retirement home for teachers in DeWitt, before moving to Peoria in 1996.

Born in Troy, she grew up in Wilmerding, Pa., and Warners. She graduated from Syracuse University and taught school in Westmoreland.

She did graduate work at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and Cornell University.

Mrs. Lobdell was a longtime resident of Westport, Essex County.

After moving to 22 Grove St., Baldwinsville, in 1953, Mrs. Lobdell was a substitute teacher in the Baldwinsville and Liverpool districts. She later taught high school mathematics in Hamilton and Van Etten and retired in 1972 as head of the mathematics department at Haverling High School, Bath.

She then taught one year at Piney Woods School in Mississippi.

Mrs. Lobdell was a member of the New York State Retired Teachers Association.

Her husband, Charles A., died in 1968.

Surviving are five daughters, Jean McCasland of Champlain, Marjorie Nancy Haskell of Baldwinsville, Margaret Schockner of Big Flats, Billie Ann Wilson of San Diego, Calif., and Naomi Markle of Phoenix, Ariz.; a son, Charles A. Jr. of Athens, Ga.; a sister, Betty White of Montrose, Colo.; two brothers, Herbert Howe of Santa Rosa, Calif., and William Howe of Salamanca; 18 grandchildren; and 20 great-grandchildren. Services are at a time to be announced in Westport. Burial is in Wadhams, Essex County.

Charles Lobdell Obituary:

Charles A. Lobdell, 80, died Sunday evening, Dec. 8, 1968 at Koehler's Nursing Home at Horseheads where he had been a patient for nearly ten years.

Mr. Lobdell was born March 22, 1888, the youngest of five children of John Ambrose and Alma Bull Lobdell. He lived most of his life on the family homestead between Westport and Wadhams where he operated a farm. He was a kind neighbor and friend to all who knew him. Two years ago he was honored by Wadhams Grange for 60 years of continuous membership in this farm fraternity.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Marjorie H. Lobdell of Bath, he is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Gray McCasland of Champlain, Mrs. Robert Haskell of Baldwinsville, Mrs. Richard Schockner of Horseheads, Mrs. Sam Markle of Milford, and Mrs. Joseph Wilson of San Diego, Calif., and one son, Captain Charles Lobdell, Jr., who is stationed with the U.S. Air Force in Germany; also by 18 grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon at the Wadhams Congregational Church with the Rev. Robert Bishop officiating. Interment was at Wadhams Riverside Cemetery.

The community extends their sincere sympathy to the bereaved family.

Appendix B – Howe Lineage

APPENDIX B: Howe Lineage

The Carey William Howe line has been traced back to Edward How who emigrated to America from England in 1635.

Edward How with his wife and five children, embarked on the “Truelove” for New England on the 19th of September 1635. On reaching this country, they settled at what is now known as Lynn, Massachusetts. Edward was admitted freeman 8 Dec 1636. He was chosen deputy to the General Court in 1638, and in the same year, his name appeared on the list of landowners in Lynn.

He died very suddenly in April 1639, and his widow, Elizabeth How, was appointed by the General Court to administer his estate on 22 May 1639.

His death is mentioned in Winthrop’s History of New England, as follows: “One Mr. How of Lynn, a godly man, and a deputy of the last general court, after the court was ended, and he had dined, being in health as he used to be, went to pass over to Charlestown, and being alone, he was presently after found upon the strand, being there (as it seemed) waiting for the boat, which came soon after.”

Of Edward’s ancestry we have little information. It has been a long standing tradition in the family that he came from London, England, and there seems to be strong support in the foundation of this tradition.

-- excerpt from “Howe Genealogies” by Daniel Wait Howe, page 397
published by The New England Historic and Genealogical Society in 1929

Other sources seem to indicate that Edward came from Hatfield Broad Oaks, Essex, England.

Note the spelling change from “How” to “Howe” which took place in the United States around the time of the Revolutionary War.

Appendix B – Howe Lineage

The lineage that is documented in Daniel Wait Howe's "Howe Genealogies", Appendix, pages 529 – 530 is as follows:

EBENEZER HOWE AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS.

EBENEZER HOWE would seem to be a descendant of Edward Howe of Lynn, Mass. He is supposed to have been born in Stamford, Ct. He married 6 Jan. 1774, SARAH BELDING, daughter of Benjamin Belding of Stamford. They lived in Greenwich, Ct., where he died 23 Aug. 1827, and where his children were born.

Children :

2. i. EBENEZER,² b. 17 Aug. 1775.
 - ii. SARAH, b. 4 Nov. 1777; d. 8 Dec. 1842.
 - iii. ELIZABETH, b. in March 1780.

Appendix B – Howe Lineage

The following shows the lineage as documented in our existing family genealogy reference. Note that there is an undocumented connection between generation -2 and generation -1. It seems unlikely that Ebenezer (-2) is the father of Ebenezer (-1). See the following page for another proposed lineage.

Generation	Name (born – died)	Comment
-6	Edward How (1575 – 1639) m. Elizabeth ? (1585 – 1671)
-5	Isaac How (1628 – 1688)	Name of wife not known. Moved to Greenwich, CT. about 1686.
-4	Nathaniel How (1650 – 1692) m. Elizabeth Bowers (1647 – 1692)	Probably born in Lynn, MA.
-3	Isaac How (1669 – 1733) m. Elizabeth Waterbury (1683 – ?)	Probably born in New Haven, CT. He died in New York.
-2	Ebenezer How (1723 – ?) m. Mary Brown (1732 – ?)
-1	Ebenezer How (1757 – 1827) m. Sarah Belding (1753 – 1822)	The connection between Ebenezer How (5) and Ebenezer How (6) has not been conclusively shown.*
0	Ebenezer How Jr. (1775 – 1854) m. Sarah Johnson (1776 – 1842)
1	Squire Howe (1803 – 1872) m. Sarah Gilkey (1810 – 1890)
2	Carey William Howe (1837 – 1909) m. Mary Jane Nichols ((1836 – 1909)

* Our existing family genealogical records seem to fill in some blanks by assuming that the Ebenezer that appears on page 529 of Daniel Wait Howe’s “Howe Genealogies” (see previous pages) is the same Ebenezer that appears at the bottom of page 434. However, if we look at the Ebenezer that is the son of Ebenezer Howe and Mary Brown in the “Howe Genealogies” (page 434), we see that he married a Sarah Bell, not Sarah Belding; and had no child named Ebenezer. Marjorie Stanfield Howe also indicates that this Ebenezer never moved to Genoa, NY.

Appendix B – Howe Lineage

The following shows the lineage proposed by Marjorie Howe Stanfield:

Generation	Name (born – died)	Comment
-6	Edward How (1575 – 1639) m. Elizabeth ? (1585 – 1671)
-5	Isaac How (1628 – 1688)	Name of wife not known. Moved to Greenwich, CT. about 1686.
-4	Nathaniel How (1650 – 1692) m. Elizabeth Bowers (1647 – 1692)	Probably born in Lynn, MA.
-3	John How (betw. 1675-85 – ?) m. Comfort Finch
-2	Nathanial How (1713 – 1759) m. ?	An Ebenezer is found in Nathaniel's probate record showing guardianship to a Henry Burley in 1761.

The following pages are excerpted from Daniel Wait Howe's "Howe Genealogies" and deal with the Edward How of Lynn Massachusetts line leading to Ebenezer How, grandfather of Squire Howe.

EDWARD HOWE

OF LYNN, MASS.

From Hotten's List of the Early Emigrants, we learn that Edward How with his wife and five children, embarked on the "True-love" for New England on the 19th of Sept. 1635. The names and ages as they appear on the above list, are as follows, viz:—Edward How, husbandman, aged 60, Elizabeth, aged 50, Jeremie, aged 21, Sara, aged 12, Ephraim, aged 9, Isaac, aged 7, Wm., aged 6. On reaching this country, they settled at what is now known as Lynn, Mass. He was admitted freeman 8 Dec. 1636. Evidently he was a man of much ability, of good report, and a highly respected citizen. He was chosen deputy to the General Court in 1638, and in the same year, his name appeared on the list of land-owners in Lynn, as having 210 acres.

He died very suddenly in April 1639, and his widow was appointed by the General Court to administer his estate on 22 May 1639.

His death is mentioned in Winthrop's History of New England, p. 355, as follows: "One Mr. Howe of Lynn, a godly man, and a deputy of the last general court, after the court was ended, and he had dined, being in health as he used to be, went to pass over to Charlestown, and being alone, he was presently after found upon the strand, being there (as it seemed) waiting for the boat, which came soon after."

Concerning his ancestry, we have but little information. There has long been a tradition in the family that he came from London, Eng., and there seems to be a probability that the tradition may have some foundation.

It is certain that there were Howes in Lynn previous to 1635, but of whom we have very little information. Capt. Daniel Howe (who has been supposed by some, to have been a brother) was in Lynn, as early as 1630, only two years after the settlement of Boston and Salem, and there was an Ephraim and an Edward Howe in Lynn about the same time. From the Court records we learn there was an Edward Howe who was fined for the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors in Lynn, in 1633.

Lewis and Newhall (History of Lynn) supposed him to be identical with the Edward who came in the "Truelove," but we find nothing to confirm the supposition, nor do we find any record as to what became of him.

Much of the information that we have concerning the Howe families of Lynn, seems to be vague traditions and supposition, and it is largely owing to the fact that the records of Lynn, for the first sixty years are missing.

EDWARD HOWE OF LYNN, MASS.

We have the names of six children, but there were probably others.

Children:

2. i. JEREMIAH,<sup>2</sup> b. in England, about 1614.
 3. ii. JOSEPH, b. in England.
 - iii. SARAH, b. in England, about 1623; no further record.
 4. iv. EPHRAIM, b. in England, about 1626.
 5. v. ISAAC, b. in England, about 1628.
 6. vi. WILLIAM, b. in England, about 1629.

EDWARD HOWE OF LYNN, MASS.

5. ISAAC<sup>2</sup> HOWE (Edward<sup>1</sup>), was probably born in London, Eng., about 1628. He probably lived with his mother several years. We find him in Lynn as late as 1649. He probably married in Lynn, but the name of his wife is unknown, and so far, we have no data concerning his early life, but it is quite probable that he was the Isaac Howe who settled at Greenwich, Ct., about 1686. According to the Greenwich Town Records, we find that a three acre lot was laid out to Isaac Howe, 26 Feb. 1686. It is quite probable that he had a family prior to that date, of which we find no record, and thus far we have the name of one child, but it is quite probable that there were others.

Child:

13. i. NATHANIEL.<sup>3</sup>

13. NATHANIEL<sup>3</sup> HOWE (Isaac,<sup>2</sup> Edward<sup>1</sup>), was probably born in Lynn as early as 1650; the name of his wife is not definitely known, but she is supposed to have been a sister of John Bowers, who was a resident of Greenwich at that time. Prior to the time that he came to Greenwich he had probably lived in New Haven, Mr. Frank Farnsworth Starr of Middletown, Ct., in a letter written 9 Dec. 1907, says "The town records of Greenwich, Ct., show that a Nathaniel Howe was a resident of that town in 1686." The records of the Fairfield probate district, which at that date included the town of Greenwich, show that he died 29 June 1692, and that an inventory of his estate was taken on the 25th of the next month. His children were probably born in New Haven; we have the names of only two, but there were probably others.

Children:

24. i. ISAAC,<sup>4</sup> probably born about 1669-72.
 25. ii. JOHN, probably born between 1675 and 1685.

24. ISAAC HOWE (Nathaniel,<sup>3</sup> Isaac,<sup>2</sup> Edward<sup>1</sup>), probably born in Lynn or New Haven, Ct., 20 Sept. 1669; married 1 June 1702, ELIZABETH WATERBURY, daughter of David Waterbury of Stamford, Ct., and moved to that place in 1714. At the General Assembly of Connecticut in 1722, he was appointed and

The following two pages are from the book: "Biographical review: this volume contains biographical sketches of the leading citizens of Livingston and Wyoming Counties, New York."
Boston: Biographical Review Pub. Co., 1895, 685 pgs.

PIRAM F. NICHOLS, M.D., a well-known and successful physician of Wyoming County, whose office is at No. 46 Market Street, Attica, has won a fine reputation for skill, and has built up an extensive practice in Attica and the surrounding country. He is a native of this county, Bennington being the place of his birth, and May 25, 1846, the date thereof. His father, Jacob H. Nichols, was born in the town of Attica in September, 1816, being a son of Abijah Nichols, one of the six original settlers of this locality.

Abijah Nichols was born in Brimfield, Mass., in 1776, and was one of the five sons of Malachi Nichols, a life-long resident of the Bay State. The other sons were: Asher, for many years a practising physician of the town of Portage in this State; Gail; Willis; and Perley. Abijah Nichols married Polly Howe, one of New England's daughters; and the first years of their wedded life were spent in Attica. In 1822 he removed to Orleans County, in order that he might better attend to his duties as one of the sub-contractors of the Erie Canal. After his death, which occurred in 1832, his family returned to Attica, and settled on the hill four miles south of the town, in what was then called Arabia. His widow, who lived to the venerable age of ninety-two years, died in Alexander in 1870. She bore her husband fifteen children, twelve sons and three daughters, of whom but two are now living — A. J. Nichols, an octogenarian; and Jacob H., the Doctor's father. One daughter, Abigail, the widow of John E. Smith, who was killed while in service during the late Rebellion, died in June, 1894, at the advanced age of eighty-two years.

Jacob H. Nichols, a prominent and practical farmer of Bennington, is still actively engaged in agricultural pursuits, and, although in the seventy-ninth year of his age, cradled grain on his farm the past season. His wife, five years younger, whom he married August 7, 1842, is as strong mentally and physically as most women in the prime of life. They celebrated their golden wedding on Monday, August 8, 1892. Her maiden name was Jane Latimer. She was born in the town of Bennington, this county, May 20, 1821, being a daughter of Hezekiah and Obedience (Butler) Latimer, both of whom were natives of Connecticut. Mrs. Latimer, the Doctor's maternal grandmother, was born September 11, 1787, at the home of her parents, Josiah and Hannah Butler, in Northington, Conn.; and her marriage with Hezekiah Latimer was solemnized December 25, 1808. The following year the young couple emigrated to New York, locating in Bennington, Wyoming County, or, as it was then called, Sheldon, Genesee County. On their way thither their hardships began, the bride being obliged at times to leave the ox wagon and wade through the swamps and morasses with her shoes and stockings in her hands. The humble log cabin which they reared in the wilderness was often menaced by the prowling wolves, the blanket serving for a door being but little protection. In 1812, being obliged to flee from the Indians, they took their only child to Cortland County, where they remained until after the birth of their second child. Mr. Latimer, who was a soldier in the War of 1812, died at an advanced age, April 5, 1865. His widow, surviving him, lived until May 6, 1879.

Jacob H. and Jane Nichols had two children—Hiram F.; and his sister, Emma C., herself a practising physician, and the wife of Dr. Milton H. Carey, of Buffalo, N.Y. Hiram was reared to farm life, and after leaving the district school was engaged in teaching thirteen terms. In 1870 he began the study of medicine with Dr. C. W. Howe, of Cowlesville, subsequently entered the physio-medical school at Indianapolis, and was graduated from that institution in 1882. Dr. Nichols began the practice of his profession in Bennington Centre, the place of his nativity, going thence to Cowlesville, where he remained four years, meeting with excellent success. In 1887 he came to Attica; and the following year, having established a good practice here, he bought his present residence and office. He has been eminently prosperous in his professional work, and is conceded to be one of the brightest and ablest medical men in this section of the county.

Dr. H. F. Nichols was married June 21, 1868, to Etta M. Lindsay, of Erie County.

Mrs. Nichols is a daughter of the late Seeley and Eunice (Munger) Lindsay, the former of whom was born in Chautauqua County, and the latter in the town of Bennington. Her father died when she was an infant, in 1853, leaving his widow with five living children. The mother died five years later. Of the ten children born to her, six are now living, two daughters being residents of Washington, two sons residing in the State of Minnesota, Mrs. Nichols in Attica, and a half-sister in Batavia. The Doctor and his wife have four children. The eldest child, a boy, died in infancy. Mae, who was graduated from the Attica High School in 1894, with a higher record than any previous graduate, is in Rochester, where she is employed in writing. Francis M. is a boy of nine years, and Alice Maud a beautiful child of six years. In politics Dr. Nichols affiliates with the Republican party; and, socially, he is a prominent member of the Odd Fellows, having passed the chairs, and now belonging to the encampment. Mrs. Nichols is an esteemed and active member of the Baptist church, and a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Note that Jane Latimer is the sister of Pamela Latimer, Gail Nichols' (son of Abijah) wife. Also note that Hiram Nichols studied with C. W. Howe, most probably Carey William Howe.

Peter Gilkey (E)

We first hear of Peter Gilkey when he enlisted in the Revolutionary War at Milford, Conn. in 1776. He next appears at Cheshire, Conn. in 1779 with a Peter Gilkey, Jr. and several other former soldiers as applicants for military lands located in N. W. Vermont and eastern New York. He or Peter, Jr. appear in the records of Waterbury and Wallingford, Conn. during the 1780's. A Peter Gilkey, probably Junior, is reported in the Census of 1790 for Cheshire, Conn. It should be noted here that a Sample Gilkey appeared in the same census. Both men headed families containing several sons under the age of sixteen.

Descendants of Peter Gilkey have a cane that he is said to have brought with him from Ireland sometime after 1700 -- we would guess after 1750. Peter, according to family legend, gave this cane to Sample (E1). Sample gave it to Samuel (E11) and Samuel to Justus (E112). Justus in turn gave it to Joseph (E1127) who gave it to Robert Henry (E11271). Robert Henry Gilkey gave it to its present owner, Alva Caleb Gilkey (E112141). This cane poses a problem. It was heavily carved with Masonic emblems and the writer has contacted the Masonic Lodge in Ireland to learn whether Peter Gilkey was a Mason, hoping in that way to learn something of his family in Ireland. The reports were a disappointment as no Gilkey is listed as a Lodge member during the period prior to 1770. This was not entirely a surprise as the cane contained among other emblems a MARK which Chapter Masons will understand. On this Mark are the initials S.F. It is possible that Peter received the cane from a relative with these initials. The first initial (S) suggests Sample and it may be from this man Sample F----- that we can look for the origin of the name given to four Gilkeys soon after.

For Peter Gilkey to have a son Peter Jr. in the Revolutionary War indicates that Peter Sr. was probably too old to be father of five sons in 1790 that were under sixteen years of age. This, and the fact that Sample Gilkey of Cheshire also had four sons of that age in 1790, indicates that Peter, Jr. and Sample were probably brothers and sons of Peter, Sr.

We have mentioned the four Samples elsewhere. It is barely possible that the Sample of Plainfield was a brother of Peter who came to America with him. He remaining at Plainfield while Peter went further west to Cheshire. It is almost certain that Peter was related closely to William of Plainfield, either a brother or nephew. Aside from the fact that we have not yet found a record of the birth of Sample of Plainfield, the evidence all points to his being a son of William. The uncertainty justifies our treating Peter as the head of a family group and we are using the prefix (E) in his case.

Note: There is some question as to whether Sample or Peter Jr. was father of these men as listed. It seems certain that Sample was father of Samuel as he gave him the cane. It also seems possible that Peter was father of Riley as Riley named a son Peter. The fact that three of the men lived at Lyons and three at Dryden is the only other reason for the placing.

Sample and Samuel lived in or around Lyons for many years. Risley appears there only in the 1810 census. William appears at Dryden only in the 1825 state census but Cary and Riley lived many years in the area. There is no evidence in the records that there was any contact between the two groups. There was a Riley Gilkey among the Vermont descendants of William Gilkey (C). A grandson of Samuel Gilkey of Lyons was also named Riley.
